

Attend Opening of Sedgewick Artificial Ice Curling Rink

Messrs. C. Milne, Cliff Smallwood, H. Barber and C. Angquist motored to Sedgewick this week to attend the opening celebration of the new Sedgewick curling rink.

Cliff, as M.P. for Battle River-Camrose riding, was called upon to officially open the new rink by throwing the first rock. As Cliff has had plenty of practice at that particular sport, he found no difficulty in obliging the Sedgewick club in this matter.

One of the highlights of the day was a curling match between Billy Ross' rink and Matt Baldwin's, Billy Ross winning by a small margin.

Our local foursome had an enjoyable game against Bartley Swelin's rink and gave a good account of themselves in spite of the fact they were curling against 4 previous Briar champions.

Will there be a Hell in the new creation? Who are the people of the new earth? Where do they come from? Who are the inhabitants of the new Jerusalem? Where will God's chosen people, the Jews, be placed in the new creation? These and other questions will be answered on Sunday night by Dr. Lewis in the closing service.

Weekly Inspirational Corner

(Sponsored by an Irma Times reader)

Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil;

Learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.

Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord; though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool.

If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land:

But if ye refuse and rebel, ye shall be devoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. —Isaiah 1:16-20.

MIXED 'SPIEL TO OPEN THE CURLING SEASON

The Irma Curling Club held a meeting on Tuesday, October 28. A motion was passed that we open the curling season with a mixed bonspiel instead of a farmers' bonspiel, as in many of the past seasons. All interested men and women in the Irma district are invited to join the fun. Just leave your name with Harold Barber.

The cost is small, so get ready to join in the fun and excitement.

At this meeting it was also moved that the rinks for the Men's Curling Club be chosen, instead of being formed as has been done in the past.

Anyone who wishes to curl with the Irma Curling Club this season, please leave your name with the Secretary, Harold Barber. Any wishing to skip should see that he is nominated, by himself or otherwise.

Let's get ready for a good winter's fun.

EASTERLY ECHOES

Mr. and Mrs. M. Pytel of Elt Point were Sunday visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. Crabb.

Mrs. W. Crabb and Margaret are visiting with relatives in Edmonton this week.

Battle River Ladies' Club had the first "500¢ party of the season" at Roseberry Hall, Friday night, combined with a Halloween party which adults and children enjoyed. Ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. Archie Cook. Ladies' consolation went to Mrs. E. Haun. Gent's first was won by Mr. Archie Cook, and gent's consolation went to Mr. J. Savard.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Dempsey were among the guests who helped Mr. and Mrs. Bert Armitage of Kinrossa celebrate their Silver Wedding Anniversary on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Fenton visited with Mrs. J. Fenton on Sunday.

Owing to the poor reception on the telephone we are sorry to have made a few mistakes last week.

Noreen and Phyllis Jackson were at the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Firkus for the weekend.

The next parking of the Strawberry Plains WI will be held at the home of Mrs. Wes Bacon on Nov. 20. Hostesses, Mrs. Bacon and Mrs. Jackson; Raffle, Mrs. S. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Funk visited with relatives at Swift Current and Herbert, Sask. recently. They found 2 of their relatives who had been hospitalized, much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Newton visited at the Wes Bacon home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Tindall, Peter and Billy and Larry Funk left Saturday morning to visit relatives in Sask. Bobby is staying with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Funk, while baby Edith is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marchand.

Mr. E. Fenton has been busy putting in the foundation for the new house of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Stephenson in Wainwright.

The Dootsons journeyed to the Diplomat Mine at Foresburg on Sunday. It was interesting to see the amount of soil stripped off before the coal could be mined. Quite a thrill to drive down on to the coal with the car; the coal being bared wider than our modern highways. A picnic lunch was enjoyed, hard to believe it was Nov. 2, weather so perfect. Drove out to the Canadian Utilities dam on the Battle River, but the fish weren't co-operating.

There are more than 700 primary textile mills in Canada, spread across Canada's 10 provinces, and until recent years the industry was the largest single source of employment in Canadian manufacturing.

Lest We Forget

A memorial service will be held in the Legion Hall, Irma, at 10:30 a.m. on November 11th. All exservicemen meet at the Fire Hall at 10:15 a.m.

CGIT Initiation Ceremony Held

On Wednesday, October 29th, the Irma CGIT group held the annual initiation ceremony in the Irma United Church. The girls and their leaders, Mrs. Inglis, Mrs. Gunn and Mrs. Ronaghan were present as were quite a number of mothers and church friends.

Miss Carol Fischer, Department President, presided and an address by Rev. H. W. Inglis was given.

The solemn initiating ceremony was taken by Mrs. Gunn and Mrs. Ronaghan and the girls initiated were Joyce Lovig, Sharon Gunn, Dorothy Ballentine, Margaret Miles, Shirley Brokop, Patsy Coffin, Barbara Fenton and Vera Glasgow.

These girls made their pledges and received their pins from Group President Isabel Inglis and their Purpore cards from Secretary Arlene Clumstad.

Four girls were admitted to the senior group. These were Carolyn Inklin, Shirley Lovig, Betty Rae Locke and Carol Smallwood.

This meaningful ceremony was presided over by Mrs. Inglis. The lanyards worn by seniors were presented by Mr. Inglis and adjusted by Group President Linda Daniels.

Following the ceremonies in the church the girls and their guests went to the basement for entertainment and lunch. The Seniors led a sing-song. The intermediates were in charge of the games while the Sunshiners served a hearty lunch to one and all.

MANY ENJOY SMORGAASBORD

All roads led to Sharon Lutheran Church on Wednesday last week. The attraction was the Smorgaasbord.

Again the Sharon WMF had prepared a three-tiered buffet table just loaded with an unbelievable variety of what Kipling called "Highly superior comestibles." These were done full justice by a box office crowd from far and near. Sharon's fame had spread abroad after last year's successful venture and this time the whole countryside decided to partake of the good things provided.

The Sharon ladies rose valiantly to the occasion. Fresh supplies were brought in and the multitude was amply fed.

Musical items at Sharon are always special too. On this evening solos were sung by Erling Nilson and Mrs. Henry Ruste, a trio by Mrs. Carl Gulbraa, Mrs. R. Erickson and Mrs. H. Ruste and a duet by Pastor and Mrs. Magee.

The Sharon ladies are to be complimented on providing such a pleasant evening for so many folk.

TENDERS WANTED

The Irma Curling Club wants Tenders for Caretaker for the curling rink for the 1958-59 season.

Apply by November 15th to S. H. Barber. 7c

Glen-Coa Gleanings

At least one farmer in the Glenholm district must have a premonition of coming cold weather. Rumors are that straw bales were solidly packed around each door of his home a certain evening last week. Or was it the Halloween goblins that were responsible, Ole? Where did that Chev make a disappearing act to? And how did that pussy-cat get upon the roof? Perhaps the Halloween witch had a hand in that. But who can account for the bewildered hens in the pump-house? Ah, me, kids will be kids!

If numbers make a thing successful, then the smorgaasbord at Sharon a week ago Wednesday was a success. People came from Sedgewick, Hardisty, Wainwright, Irma and district, Viking, and even a carload from Edmonton. The co-operation of those who attended was wonderful.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Christopher of Mt. Vernon, Wash., arrived in time to take in the smorgaasbord on their visit to the Erickson home. They spent a day or two in Edmonton visiting the Lloyd Erickson family, but returned to this district the first of the week to complete their visit here.

Lorna Larson has had to miss a few days of school last week and this, as she has had a mild case of the measles.

Mr. O. Rasack accompanied by Mrs. Fluevog and Mrs. Lickness motored to Edmonton on Saturday to attend the WMF Workers' Conference at Central Lutheran. They report an inspirational day.

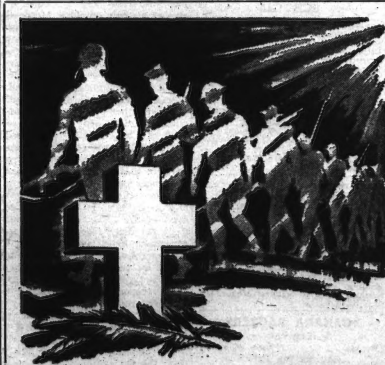

On Sunday afternoon Orville Lickness, Don Creasy, and Edythe Gulbraa attended a Luther League conference at Viking on Sunday afternoon.

Sharon WMF will be having the sale of goods and tea on Saturday afternoon, November 15, beginning at 2 p.m. Everybody is welcome.

Card of Thanks

Many thanks to all the good Albert District friends who sent cards and baking and came to visit me while I was convalescing. Your thoughtfulness meant a great deal to me and is certainly appreciated.

—Betty Ramsay.

In Flanders' Fields

In Flanders' fields, the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands, we throw
The torch. Be yours to lift it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' fields.

Former Irma Couple Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

After Mr. and Mrs. Bert Armitage started off for church last Sunday morning, members of their family and friends went frantically to work. A long table was made on trestles. Two 25 pound turkeys which had been roasting elsewhere were brought in with many other delicious foods. The table was attractively set and centred with a lovely 3 tiered wedding cake baked by daughter Betty and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Georgina Myggland of Wainwright. Preparations were all completed when the bride and groom of 25 years ago returned home about 1 p.m.

They were amazed to be greeted at the door of their home by showers of cornflakes and rice and to find this big banquet all prepared and the house fairly bursting at the seams with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Armitage, the former Mary Shaw, were married at Wainwright on Nov. 2, 1933, a cold, blustery day.

Mr. Chas. Ford was Master of Ceremonies on that occasion and was able to present last Sunday to act in the same capacity.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, were also among the guests but there were many faces missing and a minute's silence was observed in memory of these.

The same wedding songs, "Till We Meet Again" and "Bless This House," were again sung by Mr. Ford.

The afternoon was spent singing songs and hymns led by Chas. Ford at the piano, Art Ford, guitar and Andy Braiden, accordion.

Doris Armitage played the piano for a jolly sing-song with the children.

Toasts and good wishes to the bride and groom of 25 years were given by Mr. Shaw and Mr. J. Ford.

NOTICE

The Senior Hockey Club will hold a meeting at the Irma rink on Friday, November 7th at 7:30 p.m.

Jackson to which Bert and Mary fittingly replied. A mock wedding was part of the entertainment, with the bride, Mrs. Ellen Armitage, wearing the original wedding dress.

Many gifts were received including a rocking chair, a dinner set, corsage and boutonniere from the children, Bill, Betty, Herbert, John, Donald and Doris. A carving set, bouquets of red roses and a guest book were also received.

Fifty-two guests enjoyed the banquet at noon while the afternoon and evening festivities kept the number of callers up to 80. Friends from Sedgewick, Loughheed, Kinrossa, Irma and Wainwright were present.

The Irma Times wishes to extend congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Armitage and trust they will enjoy many more happy anniversaries.

To-do about "Independence"

There was quite a to-do in a committee of the senate recently
when Senator Ross Macdonald, Liberal leader, debated at length and with repetition his fear that new legislation regarding broadcasting would impair the independence of the CBC. The new law gives the CBC all the power
it had under the old law, which is too much.

If there is any validity to one's belief that Canada is a democracy, the bither about independence of a government agency from politics should go down the drain. No government agency should be given a completely free hand to do what it likes. The CBC could bankrupt the country. The CNR has been a drain on the country's assets and wealth for 40 years.

The senate, which did some good work in connection with the Broadcasting Act, must be aware of the fact that somewhere at some time the government of the day must take the responsibility for what goes on in broadcasting or radiofording or syndicate rubber manufacturing or any of the other
many things that governments would be well out of.

From time to time government has been accused of using the CBC for its own ends. More generally the accusation has been the other way—that the CBC, knowing on which side it is, is probably inclined to favor government in one way or another.

Often also there is a suspicion that the CBC was furthering its own ends rather than the public ends. An example was the time given to a socialist who protested against the new law that provides that the CBC go to parliament annually for approval of its proposed expenditures. CBC's general manager decided that this would be practicable, providing parliament was "generous". It's a nice word. But there is coming to the mind government the thought that over-generosity in one place might result in penny-pinching in another. If the CBC could save a few millions without impairing its service to the Canadian listening and viewing public, those few millions might be used by Mr. Fleming to reduce taxes or to provide money for other worthy causes, including perhaps family allowances.

The report of a royal commission on broadcasting, predicted with accuracy that the CBC would be an increasing cost over the years. The Canadian public is stuck with the cost but it ought to be possible, even in a democracy, for expenditures to be curtailed without strangling the artistic souls of the people in CBC who seem not to care a little about the taxpayer's dollar.

There is more than one disturbing tendency in CBC. An instance might be cited: the spreading al-over the world and the bringing to Canada of material which, while it may have some value culturally, has not been prejudged as to its merit in relation to cost. There is talk, and authentic talk, of a TV production to have, called "The Moralis in Sweden. After quite a bit of money had been spent the thing was cancelled. The quite a bit of money raised from mid-Canada estimate of $40,000 down to a mere $12,000. Any editor of a family publication would have strangled this idea in advance.

Another tendency of the CBC is to expand its news service. This is probably a greater threat to democracy in Canada than anything else one could imagine. Of course, as any Diefenbaker adherent would say, there is no danger that the present government would allow the CBC to become a news agency of a political party. It is over the long run the dissemination of the news, whether in picture form or the printed word, is a person not completely informed of objectivity. The person who listens to or watches only the CBC news on radio and TV is a person not completely informed of the news. One private radio station has five commentators on the news who are personalities. These personalities are prejudiced, biased individuals, but from the five one can arrive at his own opinions. Moreover this is in a city where there are three daily newspapers so there is not any lack of opportunity of getting the information from various quarters.

But in many homes and in many places the CBC is paramount, with the result that people get only one point of view. No one point of view can be completely unbiased.
Editorial writers throughout Canada should view with alarm
the fact that the Government sees itself in danger in having CBC
representatives in the press gallery in Ottawa. It is a fact that most of the CBC news is derived from the daily reports of two independent news agencies, but if the reports of parliament are to be edited by the CBC there is then the picture of a government agency reporting parliament. If it does not report parliament fairly from the Government's point of view, it will be considered, and if it does not report parliament fairly it will be criticized. For the CBC's from the Opposition point of view interest, if the CBC has any sense, it would refrain from viewing its own people to report parliament. It also would save a few dollars in salaries, perhaps.

What is the horsepower of a

"BATTLE OF THE LILY POND"

A young friend of mine lives in one of those modern suburbs of charming bungalows and cottages.
Each house, looking like a picture
from a beautiful home magazine, is set among pretty flowers and well-manicured lawns.

On a sunny afternoon attractive young matrons can be seen sunning themselves in the gardens
with their happy children at play around them.

Sitting in my friend's garden
the other day I commented on the extraordinary relaxed and peaceful scene.

"Peaceful," she snorted. "You are sitting in the middle of a battled. This whole community is at war about a lily pond."

Pointing to a split-level dream-house down the street, she explained that the owners had decided that the garden would be enhanced by a lily pond and proceeded to have one built.

Their next-door-neighbors, parents of five young and unruly children, had declared the whole thing was a sinister plot to drown their little darlings.

The lily-ponders had suggested the neighbors build a fence and keep their pesky kids at home.
Angry words, threats and counter-threats were exchanged.

The word of battle, leaping across the pleasant gardens, had spread like wildfire to the far reaches of the community. Everyone joined the fray. Backyard protest meetings were held, petitions were signed.

Those with their own unruly
broods were on the side of the objecting neighbors. For blocks around, mothers feared their own youngsters might stray over to the danger zone.

Those with older children, or no children at all, were on the side of the lily-ponders. They took advantage of the row to air their complaints about the nuisance
variety of "neighbors."

The fight has raged all summer
long with no sign of settlement.
Meanwhile friends and neighbors have stopped speaking to each other, mothers feared their own
youngsters might stray over to the
danger zone.

"We are hoping for a meeting at the summit," my friend said. "If only they would get together and build a fence the whole thing would die down quickly." She sighed, and her neighbors can start
such a bitter war over a lily pond,
it is no wonder countries keep shooting at each other."

Provincial Laboratories building officially opened October 17

A new $850,000 Provincial Laboratories building was officially opened, Friday, October 17, at Regina.

This is the first building ever designed and constructed to house the 53-year-old Laboratories. A division of the public health department, the "lab" is on the legislative grounds, connected to the public health building under construction by a 100-foot service tunnel.

Premier T. C. Douglas will open the Laboratories by cutting a ribbon.
The chairman at the ceremony
was the Minister of Public Health, Hon. J. Walter Ebb.

With a staff of 46, the Laboratories are the health workshops of sanitary officers, health officers,
private physicians and hospitals.

They also provide services to government departments, including analysis of gasoline for detection of purple dye such as is used in cases of suspected beverages. Where of death under suspicious circum-

Government purchases Town of Craik bonds

Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines announced recently that the Saskatchewan Government had purchased $5,000 of the $17,200 bonds recently issued by the Town of Craik for sewage works. The purchase helped to insure the success of the issue and, of course, provided a substantial part of the funds required to carry out this worthwhile project, he said. Investments such as this are continually being made by government accounts. Mr. Fines said, and in many cases school, hospital and water sewage projects could not have proceeded without this Provincial assistance. The purchases are made under a policy of providing capital funds in as large a volume as possible to those municipal bodies which have difficulty selling bonds on the open market, he explained.

Because funds are limited, investments are deliberately concentrated on bond issues where marketing difficulties may be encountered. In this way there is reasonable assurance that the assistance is going to those local governments which most need it. The assistance given in this way has grown rapidly and in 1957 3½ million was invested by the Province in municipal debentures of various kinds. A similar volume is indicated for 1958 with over $2.1 million invested in local issues to October 1. Success in concentrating on issues of financially weaker local government debentures is indicated by the fact that of the total $21 million, $1.7 million went to school districts, school units, union hospital districts, rural telephone companies, and small urban centres. Indeed, the Province has purchased 30 percent of all debentures issued by all school and hospital authorities, rural telephone companies and small urban centres in the province in 1958, Mr. Fines said.

Positive proof of the results of Herald classified ads was shown recently when Mr. A. Rakai, district farmer, called in with instructions to take his ad out of the paper and stop people from 'phoning him about them.

Briquette plant started as experiment in 1920's

An enterprise which was started as an experiment under the sponsorship of the federal and provincial governments has proved itself to be a successful business venture by a private concern in Blenfaul. This plant was operated until 1931 when the economic forces of the depression caused it to be shut down.

The Dominion Briquette and Chemical Company reopened the plant in 1937. For the first two years production was sporadic, but from then on it has operated year round. This is a partial truth as the plant is actually only producing nine months of the year. The other three months are for holiday time and effecting necessary repairs.

The transformation from lignite coal to briquettes is a very intriguing process. Screen coal purchased from M. & S. Mines is brought to the plant where it is first placed in a drying unit heated to 270 degrees centigrade. Only screen coal in sizes from a half to four inch is used; never "bug dust." This drying unit reduces the moisture to no more than 1½ percent. It then passes to the pug mill where it is heated to 830 degrees centigrade. Here the volatiles are reduced to 10 percent. The char then passes a cooling zone and from there to a steel enclosed storage bin. It then passes to a hammer mill where it is ground to a fine size. The asphalt is then added. It then goes through a pug mill and a flaker which are designed to thoroughly mix the char with the asphalt.

The mix, which is in a tacky state, goes to the press where the briquettes are made. They pass along a slow conveyor until they come to the cooling bins. These bins are constructed of glass which are spaced an inch apart to allow maximum cooling. After 48 hours they are then put in a railcar for shipping. The carbonizer works 24 hours a day, but the press which has a capacity of 25 tons per hour only needs to operate eight hours daily.

From 90 to 100 thousand tons of coal are used annually. From this amount 45,000 tons of briquettes and 300,000 to 400,000 gallons of creosote is sold to a northern Saskatchewan wood preserving firm. The briquettes, which won't stack and have a moisture content of four percent or less, are used almost entirely by the domestic market. The main markets are in Manitoba and Saskatchewan but some are shipped as far east as Kenora.

—The plant, which is one of its kind in North America, employs an average of 32 people. The majority of these people live in community dwellings on the site and enjoy a rare blessing, lights, sewer and water.

Although operations are located at Blenfaul, the head office and sales department are in Winnipeg. Hugh MacDonald is a company president.—The Mercury, Estevan.

Where do we stand in physical training?

Comparisons of standards of physical education of public recreation contribute an important basis for recommendations in the Manitoba Physical Education and Recreation Study Committee report by Hon. Stewart H. McLean, minister of education.

Manitoba standards compare unfavorably with those of other provinces; Canada, as a whole, has yet to place the same emphasis on physical education—and physical fitness—as other major and minor world powers.

In Great Britain teachers and schools are given full scope to devise their own programs, but local education authorities are obliged to provide adequate facilities and time for physical education.

Two or three instructional hours per week are supplemented with daily or tri-weekly games periods after school. And "after school" is often interpreted to mean "all-afternoon". Emphasis in the British system is placed on the development of physical efficiency on fundamental movement, at the elementary level.

Teacher training in Britain includes two and three-year courses for certification as physical education teachers and educators. Government encouragement and financial assistance to agencies and organizations operating sports programs have also contributed to a marked upswing in physical fitness in Great Britain since the end of World War Two.

In the United States more attention is paid to sports rather than gymnastics, but the report indicates that "governments have made provision for physical education in their authorized systems of education." Time allotments and curricula vary throughout the country.

The study reveals that 85 percent of the 523 school systems studied in the United States employ special teachers, consultants or specialists in physical education. It is also stated that some 54 percent of their school buildings provide excellent or adequate gymnasiums or playrooms. Less than one percent provide swimming pools.

In addition, close to 87 percent of U.S. schools allow the use of physical education facilities by the community in out-of-school hours during the school year.

The United States graduated 8,400 specially-trained physical education teachers in 1956.

Russia and satellite countries use physical education and recreation as important instruments to form a closely-knit political society.

In 1956 Russia reported to a physical education congress as follows:

—Physical education is a compulsory subject at elementary, secondary and college and university levels. The program includes gymnastics, sports and games for two to three lessons per week.

—School tournaments, mass sports competitions and festivals are arranged during winter and summer vacations.

—More than 20 million Soviet pupils participated in school stimulation contests in that year.

—To improve skills of young Soviet sportsmen, Russia provides 100,000 teachers and 350,000 volunteer assistants. Approximately 10,000 physical education teachers are graduated each year.

—Sports facilities are being built at break-neck speed to meet the demand. They are well-built, well-planned and include gymnasiums, basketball courts, swimming pools and ample seating capacity.

—In 1966 there were 1,500 big stadiums, 23,900 football fields and 150,000 playgrounds in Russia.

In addition, Russians must earn a diploma (GTO) before they are eligible for services and privileges provided for participants in sport. In the period 1954-51 seven million Russians earned this degree.

Huffy skunks hold up works

What is more unpopular than a skunk at a garden party? The boys of the Vermilion water and sewer department will answer that one in a hurry—it's two skunks down at the ditch, 8 feet deep. That's just what the workmen found on reporting to continue work on a waterline ditch at the Norton Implement Agency Thursday morning. The skunks became excited by the onlookers from above and immediately began to protect themselves in their usual efficient, if somewhat odorous manner, resulting in the trench being highly perfumed. By and by the two animals had to be shot and removed. But that particular project was postponed for the rest of the day in order to allow the air to clear.—The Standard, Vermilion, Alberta.

News Report From Edmonton

By Ken Mason

EDMONTON — The Alberta Liberal party got itself a new leader last week and pledged an all-out battle to wrest power away from Social Credit in the next provincial election.

The new chieftain, elected at the climax of the party's leadership convention here in the capital, is J. W. Grant MacEwan, 36-year-old Calgary MLA, author, agriculturist and former university professor.

He won a three-way race with Richard Hall, 51, MLA for Athabasca, and Ralph Walker, 34, Raymond district rancher and oilman. Hall, a man with loads of ability who isn't too well known outside northern Alberta, dropped out on the first ballot. On the second, MacEwan polled 314 votes to Walker's 200.

There was little excitement at the convention, apart from the leadership election campaign which was complete with marching bands, singing commercials and boisterous parades by placard-carrying delegates supporting their candidates.

The convention adopted a party platform made up for most part of policy statements which had been announced earlier, and which some observers found a little "too general" in their approach to provincial problems.

Greatest excitement on the first day of the convention was a behind-the-scenes campaign to draft Edmonton's Mayor William Hawrelak for the leadership. Six different delegations called on him, and one of them claimed to have 265 first-ballot votes pledged for him if he would run. But Hawrelak stood by his earlier decision and refused to enter the race.

Claims made by Hawrelak supporters would seem to indicate he is the man the party really wanted, but there are some who say this isn't so. Had Hawrelak accepted the challenge, they say, a strong opposition movement would have developed. If Hawrelak had taken the leadership, they add, his effectiveness would be badly reduced by internal squabbles within the party.

MacEwan likeable, lanky and six-foot-three, is a choice that should keep everyone happy. He is personable, has a fine platform presence and gets along with his fellow politicians.

Whether Grant is the man who can lead the Liberals to power after a 37-year absence is a question that won't be answered until Albertans go to the polls, probably next summer.

But throughout the convention, speakers stressed this point: Albertans are growing tired with the Manning administration and they feel it's time for a change. The only possible change, they said, is to a Liberal government.

It became clear at the convention that the major issue in the next election will be the government's five-year development program, announced earlier in the fall. Liberals will be busy pointing out that most features of the Social Credit plan have been advocated for years by the Liberals, and have been repeatedly turned down by the government.

The convention got a lift with the arrival of Hon. Lester B. Pearson, the national leader, who gave a fighting speech just before the balloting for leader. He warned that anti-dumping legislation of the Conservative government in Ottawa could harm the country's economy if it is implemented in a way the U.S. thinks is unfair.

Western farmers would be hardest hit, he said, because U.S. retaliatory action would be aimed at Canadian cattle. Exports of cattle to the U.S. are all that's keeping farmers out of the red today, he said.

J. HARPER PROWSE, whose resignation from the provincial Liberal leadership last spring made the convention necessary, announced that he won't be seeking re-election to the Edmonton Legislature seat he's held since 1945.

Prowse told the convention he is "going into drydock for a while to have the barnacles scraped off." Privately, he says he isn't through with politics and after a few years of building up his law practice he'll probably be back. Word has it he's interested in the federal field.

There were 808 voting delegates at the leadership convention, 91 alternates and 157 guests. But ballots cast for the leadership totalled only a little over 500, which means nearly 400 delegates didn't vote.

CRAWFORD FERGUSON, Trochu, Alta., lawyer and Rhodes scholar, was elected president of the Liberal Association of Alberta. He succeeds John Decore, Edmonton lawyer. Young Ferguson won out over Douglas McKeen, of Sanguid; Mrs. Irene Smith, of Camrose, and Bruce Whittaker, Edmonton.

MUNICIPALITIES MEET — The Union of Alberta Municipalities also made news last week, with its 54th annual convention held in Edmonton.

The expected discussion of a province industrial tax didn't materialize, but Municipal Affairs Minister Al Hooke told delegates the province wants to set up a permanent advisory board on provincial-municipal relations.

Mr. Hooke said he would like the board to give "immediate" attention to the problem of taxation. Taxes in Alberta are 50 per cent higher than those in Ontario, he said, and added he'd like to see "more equality" in taxation throughout the province. He said the government might conceivably take over as-

MY TRIP TO ENGLAND & WALES

By Mr. Pryor Jones, taken from His Diary

On the sixth, we visited a city that was called Verberham in 140 A.D. by the early Christians when the Romans invaded this land. Later, it was named after a very friendly general, St. Alban who took over the country after the death of the cruel Emperor, Diocletian. St. Alban built the first Roman theatre in Great Britain. Now under the care of the house of Grohamburg, it has just recently been unearthed after being buried for several years. In this area they are excavating what is supposed to be an ancient city. They have found stone graves, bones, old relics and pottery of all sizes. All these articles are put into the museum there. On the floor of two rooms found in the ruins, there is one complete square of Mosaic pavement. Part of it is badly crumbled but another piece, about 5'x8' is in perfect condition. I was able to take a good snap of it. Many archaeologists from many countries are working in these ruins.

Thursday, we visited the town where the greatest of jet airliners are manufactured—Hatefield, the home of the De Havilland Aircraft Co. The testing of the comet airliners is also done here. It is a gigantic place and when 5 o'clock comes and employees start leaving, it looks like a huge army on the move. We also visited the university city of Cambridge. This is a city heard by so many and seen by so few. On going around the buildings, one is amazed at the greatness of their size. I was only on the outside of the buildings with one exception. We were able to go inside and view the King's Chapel. It is very large and the stained glass windows and figures on them add to the immensity of the Chapel.

Our next visit was to the American Cemetery, not far from Cambridge City. It was a pleasure to note that the Americans have marked the 3,500 graves with large crosses cut from solid marble. Around one side of the cemetery there is a twelve foot high marble wall with some 9,000 names of American servicemen carved on it. I was told that this also will be marked by a cross. The cemetery is situated on quite a rise of land and surrounded by some grand old English oak trees. The crypt they have built has the emblem of each state in the union on one of the door windows and also a replica of the guns each of the forces used in the discharge of their duty. Going through such a cemetery gives one a feeling of warmth and reverence for those who laid down their lives that others may enjoy the liberty that makes the world a safe place in which to live for the coming generations. ## Gas prices go down in Selkirk

Up and down and now down go gasoline prices in Selkirk. Newly painted signs are being seen posted on the pumps of two more service stations who have dropped the cost of gasoline to the consumer by as much as eight cents per gallon. Motorists are now paying 34.9 for No. 2 octane and 39.9 for No. 1.

Prior to this gasoline was sold for 42.8 and 44.8 per gallon respectively. This brings the total to five service stations who are now following the trend of lower gasoline prices which is prevalent in Winnipeg. — The Enterprise, Selkirk, Man.

Go home, youngsters

Contributor of the following article is a parent who may or may not have had an eye or ear to some of the rumblings concerning the antics and exploits of youthful citizens.

The mother of a teenage student and Ralph N. Peterson of the department of guidance of Spokane Public Schools, became engrossed one day in the ubiquitous complaint of teenagers about not having anything to do. They came up with an answer, several of them for that matter, and they are gaining in circulation. The piece is reprinted here from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington.

Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenager:

What can we do...?

Where can we go...?

I can make some suggestions.

GO HOME—

Hang storm windows, paint the woodwork. Rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk. Wash the car. Repair the sink. Learn to cook. Scrub the floors. Build a boat. Get a job.

Help the minister, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army: visit the sick, assist the poor; study your lessons, and when you are through—and not too tired—read a book.

Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your village does not owe you recreational facilities. The world does not owe you a living.

You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy, and your talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty or sick or lonely again.

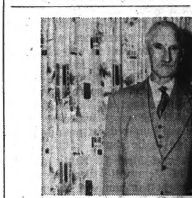

In plain simple words: GROW UP; quit being a crybaby; get out of your dream world; develop a backbone not a wishbone; and start acting like a man or lady.

I'm a parent, I'm tired of nursing, protesting, explaining, appealing, begging, helping, tolerating, denying myself needed comforts for your every whim and fancy, just because your selfish ego instead of common sense dominates your personality, thinking and requests.

Bags bear at Lintlaw

Albert Dickson of Regina, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dickson of Semans proved his skill as a hunter recently while visiting at the farm of his father-in-law at Lintlaw, Sask. Ab. has been trying out the local golf course recently, where he is also a sharp shooter. — The Gazette, Semans, Sask.

SUPPORT LOCAL MERCHANTS

MIL AND MRS. ANDREW JESPERSON (top), pioneers of the Stony Plain district are among three 1958 Master Farm Family Award winners. Mr. Jespersen, 81 years of age, and Mrs. Jespersen, 77 years of age, have operated their dairy farm near Stony Plain since 1903.

APPLIED PRINCIPALS of mixed farming and community leadership have won a Master Farm Family award for Mr. and Mrs. J. McCulloch (center) of the Didsbury area. The McCulloch's operations include raising Hereford beef stock, raising hogs and farming 1,245 cultivated acres.

CLOSE INSPECTION—Innisfail students Sandra Zimmerman, grade five and Jimmy Carter, grade six, assist Nurse Marilyn Puffer and Teacher Mrs. M. Peters in checking one of the rats used in an experiment to show that "proper food" means better health. That rats are divided into two contingents. One group receives a balanced diet, while the other eats a "snack type" diet. The rats are weighed and checked several times each day.

DER BING GETS NEW ROLE

When Bing Crosby was lost for a few minutes the other day at the Innisfail Public school in Alberta it was an extremely serious matter for grade five and six students.

Bing Crosby is one of the rats taking part in an experiment being conducted to prove to the youngsters that good eating habits make for better health. The other rats in the experiment, there are two groups, are named after famous people, explores and even cartoon characters.

The experiment, in which half of the rats are fed a balanced diet and the other group live on the "snack-type" lunch so common to youngsters, is being conducted under the supervision of the members of the teaching staff and the Red Deer Health Unit officials.

Idea for the experiment originated with Health Nurse Marilyn Puffer, R.N., while she was at the

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

The season of "Can You Top This?" is upon us again and the garden of Jack Simmonds, Raymond, has produced a potato weighing 4 lbs. 2 oz. That should be a record. This is remarkable in a year which had little rainfall during the growing season.—The Gazette, Semans, Sask.

Master farmers of 1958

Three Alberta farm families specializing in dairying, beef cattle, and mixed farming have been named Master Farmers of 1958.

Winners this year are the Andrew Jespersen family of Stony Plain; the Mel Wood family of Tofield, and the J. McCulloch family of Didsbury.

In announcing the awards, Hon. L. C. Halmrast, Minister of Agriculture stated that the program was based upon concepts of "good farming, right living and clear thinking". Since inception of the award 10 years ago, 36 Alberta farm families previously have been so honored.

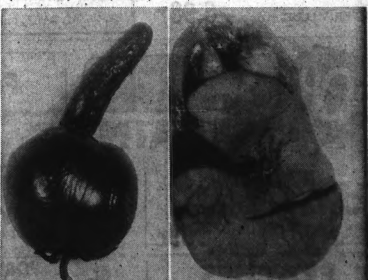

"The main objective of the program is to provide Alberta farm families with a practical demonstration showing how a family can achieve success in agriculture, and community and home life," Mr. Halmrast stated. "In all cases, the award winners of 1958 provide excellent examples of our aim."

Master Farmers receive a $1,000 cash award, and an engraved plaque.

STEEL WAGES

Primary iron and steel pays the highest wages of any major Canadian industry, an average of $2.10 per hour in Nova Scotia and $2.29 in Ontario.

(The Press, Wilkie, Sask.)

FREAK VEGETABLES are in the fore at this time of year as people reap the return from their gardens and some of these have been passed along to the vegetable oddities department at the Press office. At left is one of a kind of freak tomatoes grown by Mrs. L. Mellon of Cavell. At right is evidence that John Weber does not have to place the seed in the ground in order to grow potatoes. He was cleaning out his potato bin recently when he came across the above specimen which was sprouting small tubers inside. Latest examples of over-sized vegetables brought into the vegetable editor is a cucumber more the size of a squash. The big cukes weighed two and three-quarter pounds, and was grown by Mrs. Thad Musselman. Mrs. J. O. Haughen of Phippen, has brought in a two and one-quarter pound potato. Can anyone top that?

The Royal Agricultural Winter Fair

Millions of dollars worth of prized livestock, horses and agricultural produce from all across Canada and from the United States, the British Isles and other countries will be exhibited at the 1958 Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, the world's biggest indoor agricultural exhibition, scheduled to be held from November 14 to 22 in the Coliseum here.

Each of Canada's 10 provinces will be well represented at the 1958 Royal which, as in other years, will have the pick of Canadian herds, fields and orchards on display. Show officials in charge of entries report a record number of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs have been entered and entries of goats, fruits, vegetables and seeds compare favorably with other years.

Official opening ceremonies will be performed on November 14 by the Right Honourable Vincent Massey, Governor-General of Canada, while His Worship Mayor Nathan Phillips of Toronto will extend a welcome to teams from the United States, Mexico, Cuba, Germany and Canada, who will compete in International Jumping competitions at the Royal Horse Show.

Well over 100 internationally-famous judges of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, poultry and pet stock, as well as grain, vegetables, dairy and poultry products, fruit, flowers and other agricultural products from Canada, the United States, England and Scotland will judge the thousands of entries at this year's Royal.

Judges travelling the greatest distance to select prize winning entries include Lt.-General The Lord Norrie, of Berkshire, England; Campbell Moodie, London, England; W. Gordon Blackstock, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and G. A. E. Neville, Essex, England.

Among entries being shipped considerable distance to be displayed at the big Canadian Fair is wheat from E. J. Peddie of South Australia and barley from Mrs. M. Johnstone, of East Africa. One of the outstanding features of the 1958 Royal will be the personal appearance of Arthur Godfrey, internationally-famous television and radio star. Riding his prized Palomino stallion "Goldie", he will appear at the Horse Show each evening throughout the eight days of the Royal and on both Saturday afternoons.

Other features and attractions at the 1958 Royal include a magnificent flower show, a photographic competition, "dancing waters", horse shoe pitching competitions, a mammoth fruit and vegetable display, and "sales of the stars", cattle and sheep.

St. Mary's Church Irma, News

Harvest Thanksgiving Service was held on Sunday, Oct. 19th. Also at this service The Little Helpers Rally under the direction of Mrs. R. Thurston. We are pleased to see so many little helpers out. Keep up the good work. To complete the service, there were baptisms: Dean Brent, Allan Blanchard and Donna Marlene Jones.

On Monday night, October 20, there was a very successful Parish Dinner, at which members of the congregation of Metropolitan and Irma joined together for a festive occasion. The meal was truly delicious. The Pastor spoke briefly commending the congregation for their interest in the Extension appeal during the past year. Rev. Ingalls of the United Church in Irma brought greeting and spoke of his happy relations with Anglicans throughout the years. Mr. N. Blades acted as Chairman and showed some very entertaining films. We also welcomed as a guest The Rev. Ingram of Edmonton. We are very pleased to see Mrs. Ingram home after her illness and stay in hospital.

Historians are uncertain as to the discoverer of Hudson Strait, the sea passage from the Atlantic to Hudson Bay; John Cabot may have been in the Strait in 1498, or Portuguese sailors may have entered it a few years later.

THEIR LIVES—HIS LIVELIHOOD DEPEND ON OIL

Imperial contributes to a better life for Canadians through constant leadership in oil... finding new supplies... pioneering more useful products

There are more than five tractors for every six occupied farms in Canada... one motor vehicle for every four Canadians. More than half the homes in Canada are heated by oil.

Canadians consume half again as much gasoline today as they did in 1946, nearly five times as much heating and diesel fuels.

Imperial has been a major contributor to this better life, more productive economy. In 1946, Canada produced less than one-tenth of its oil needs. In 1947, Imperial discovered oil at Leduc, in Alberta. Today, Canada's own fields produce nearly 60 percent of our requirements.

Through its nine refineries from coast to coast... and in its research operations, larger than the rest of the Canadian oil industry put together... Imperial has constantly been able to lead in the development of newer and more useful products... to make a fuller life for Canadians.
